

SUKI CHAN

Artist & Film Director

I create immersive experiences that transport people to other worlds. My films explore what it means to be human; I am drawn to huge questions in life. The approach I take towards sensitive and nuanced subjects – dementia, sight loss, identity and belonging – is rarely seen in contemporary art. I am funded by BFI, Film London, Arts Council England, The Wellcome Trust, Film & Video Umbrella and the British Council. My films have been exhibited internationally and acquired by several major collections around the world. I have been nominated twice for the Jarman Award and shortlisted for the Renaissance Art Prize.
